POSC 315: Introduction to Public Policy

David P. Adams, Ph.D.

Fall 2024 - Week 2, Lecture 1

Introduction

- Course overview and objectives
- Importance of understanding constitutional foundations for public policy

Introduction to Institutions

- Definition: Rules that govern interactions and transactions
- Examples: Family, Business, Religion, Hospitals, Schools, Communities, Capitalism, Marriage, Voting, Education, Legislatures

Discussion Prompt - What Institutions Matter?

- Question: Which institutions do you interact with most in your daily life? How do they influence your decisions?
- Activity: Small group discussion

The Constitutional Order

The Constitution and Policymaking

- Living document
- Open to interpretation
- Purposefully vague
- Elasticity allows growth and responsiveness

Case Study - Constitutional Interpretation

- Example: Examine a landmark Supreme Court case (e.g., Marbury v. Madison)
- Question: How does this case demonstrate the Constitution's "elasticity"?
- Discussion: Class discussion

Separation of Powers

Three Branches

- ① Legislative (Article I)
- ② Executive (Article II)
- ③ Judicial (Article III)

Role of Checks and Balances

- Prevents any one branch from gaining too much power
- Contributes to policymaking complexity
- Examples: veto power, judicial review, advice and consent

Interactive Exercise - Separation of Powers

- Activity: Assign groups to represent each branch of government. Using scenarios (e.g., environmental law, healthcare policy), each group explains their role in policymaking
- Debrief: Discuss how separation of powers impacts policy development and implementation

The Constitutional Order - Policymaking Powers

Key Constitutional Provisions

- Article I, Section 8: Commerce Clause, Elastic Clause
- Amendment 14: Due Process, Equal Protection
- Amendment 10: Federalism Structure

Summary and Q&A

- Recap key points
- Questions?
